REPLY BRIEFRECEIVED
CENTRAL FAX CENTER*SEP 28 2005

To: Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450

From: Steven R. Sponseller (Tel. 509-324-9256 x 250; Fax 509-323-8979)
Customer No. 22801

In response to Examiner's Answer mailed July 28, 2005, in connection with Applicant's Appeal Brief filed March 18, 2005, a Reply Brief is submitted. Favorable consideration is respectfully requested.

Claims 11, 21, 51 and 61 are objected to because they are allegedly in improper form.

Claims 1-30 and 38-72 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,598,028 to Sullivan et al.

Appellant respectfully submits that the standard for anticipation under 35 U.S.C. § 102 is not satisfied by Sullivan with respect to claims 1-30 and 38-72. Accordingly, Appellant disagrees with the Office's final rejection (from which an appeal has been made) and with the Examiner's Answer, to which this Reply responds.

Examiner's Allegation Regarding Grouping of Claims

On Page 2 of the Examiner's Answer (Mailed July 28, 2005), under the heading "(7) Grouping of Claims", the Examiner alleges "The rejection of claims 1-30 and 38-72 stand or fall together because appellant's brief does not include a statement that this grouping of claims does not stand or fall together and reasons in support thereof. See 37 CFR 1.192(c)(7)."

Appellant respectfully notes that 37 CFR 1.192 was removed and reserved on September 13, 2004. Thus, the Examiner has cited a rule that is not longer effective.

Appellant submits that that claims 1-30 and 38-72 do not stand or fall together. Appellant notes that the old rules regarding "grouping" of claims are no longer effective. Appellant argued the following sets of claims separately in the Appeal Brief: 1. Claims 1-11 and 54; 2. Claims 12-21 and 68-69; 3. Claims 22-

30, 55, 66-67 and 71-72; 4. Claims 38-41; 5. Claims 42-47; 6. Claims 48-50;
7. Claims 51-53; 8. Claims 56-60; 9. Claims 61-65 and 70.

37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(vii) states (in part):

... For each ground of rejection applying to two or more claims, the claims may be argued separately or as a group. When multiple claims subject to the same ground of rejection are argued as a group by the appellant, the Board may select a single claim from the group of claims that are argued together to decide the appeal with respect to the group of claims as to the ground of rejection on the basis of the selected claim alone. Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph, the failure of appellant to separately argue claims which appellant has grouped together shall constitute a waiver of any argument that the Board must consider the patentability of any grouped claim separately. Any claim argued separately should be placed under a subheading identifying the claim by number. Claims argued as a group should be placed under a subheading identifying the claims by number....

Appellant has complied with 37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(vii) by placing claims argued as a group under a subheading identifying the claims by number. Thus, Appellant submits that the nine separate sets of claims (identified by appropriate subheadings in the Appeal Brief) do not stand or fall together and are to be considered separately.

Appellant submits that the Examiner's statement with respect to the grouping of claims on Page 2 of the Examiner's Answer is incorrect and should be withdrawn.

Response to Arguments

On Page 3 of the Examiner's Answer (Mailed July 28, 2005), under the heading "(11) Response to Argument", it appears that the Examiner does not understand Appellant's argument regarding application of the wrong standard regarding the Sullivan reference. The Examiner's Answer states "In response to applicant's argument that the Examiner has applied the wrong standard to the reference's use of the term suggestion," Appellant submits that the Examiner applied the wrong standard by using the word "suggests" in rejecting claims based on 35 U.S.C. 102(e). Instead, the Examiner is referring to the word "suggestion" as if it were being quoted from the Sullivan reference. Appellant submits that the Examiner has improperly applied 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by considering what the Sullivan reference "suggests" instead of what the reference actually discloses.

In the Examiner's Answer, the Examiner further states "In addition, the currency conversations [sic] referred to by the applicant are defined within the range of the definition of transferring assets between accounts at different financial institutions." This general statement fails to address the specific limitations of the claims. Instead, the above statement attempts to characterize the invention generally without identifying or mentioning the various elements of the claims, and without making any reference to the disclosure of the Sullivan reference.

In the second paragraph under the heading "(11) Response to Argument", the Examiner alleges that the following features are not recited in the rejected claims:

1. "a specific method of transferring funds between two different commonly-owned accounts at two different financial institutions, through the use of at least two separate transactions";

2. "two separate transactions to transfer funds from a first account at one institution to a third account at another financial institution via an intermediate account";
3. "a third party that is neither the first financial institution nor the second financial institution".

Regarding item 1 above, Appellant notes that claim 12 recites that the first account (at a first financial institution) and the third account (at a second financial institution) have a common account holder. Claim 12 further recites "implementing a first transaction" and "implementing a second transaction". Thus, claim 12 recites the features of item 1.

Regarding item 2 above, Appellant notes that claim 12 recites "implementing a first transaction" that withdraws funds from a first account at a first financial institution and deposits the withdrawn funds into a second account (the intermediate account). Another transaction, recited as "implementing a second transaction" withdraws the deposited funds from the second account and deposits those withdrawn funds into a third account at a second financial institution. Thus, claim 12 also recites the features of item 2.

Regarding item 3 above, Appellant notes that claim 19 recites "wherein withdrawing funds from the first account and depositing funds into the third account are effectuated via a third financial institution". The "third" financial institution is separate from the "first" financial institution and the "second" financial institution. Thus, claim 19 recites the features of item 3.

Based on the above discussion, Appellant submits that the Examiner's allegation that the above features (1, 2 and 3) are not recited in the rejected claims is incorrect.

Accordingly, Appellant submits that Claims 1-30 and 38-72 are allowable for at least the reasons discussed in the Appeal Brief filed March 18, 2005 along with the reasons discussed herein.

Conclusion

Applicant respectfully submits that all of the Office's rejections have been traversed. As such, Applicant respectfully submits that all of the claims are in condition for allowance.

Respectfully Submitted,

Dated: 9-28-05
